

HOUSE PASSES UTILITY BILL; DEFEATS FDR

SWIFTLY ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF 'LOBBYING'

Roosevelt's Holding Company Measure Is Defeated

By Frank B. Harper
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, July 2.—(P)—Smashing down for a second time the president's demands for death to holding companies, the divided democratic house today passed a bill to "regulate" utilities and then swiftly ordered a probe of lobbying both for and against the measure.

A charge by Representative Brewster (R-Me.) that Thomas Corcoran, RFC attorney, threatened to halt the Passamaquoddy project in Maine unless Brewster supported President Roosevelt's utilities views precipitated special inquiry.

But before that, in an atmosphere of nervousness and tension, the house voted 258 to 147 to substitute its bill—leaving the future of utility holding companies to the discretion of the securities commission—for the administration-senate bill for mandatory death by 1942.

Then quickly it rejected 312 to 93 a republican motion to send the bill back to committee for still further revision and passed the measure 323 to 51.

The future of this legislative utility war was doubtful. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), author of the death sentence bill, said that unless a "decent bill" can be written in conference between the senate and house, "I am in favor of letting it die and going to the country on the issue."

But there was some question whether the bill even would get to conference. The senate accepted the death sentence by only one vote and a powerful move was under way to agree to the house amendments to the bill. Worried administration leaders maneuvered to postpone the test until next week.

A motion to concur in the house amendments would take precedence, under senate rules, over a motion to send the bill to conference. Knowing this was their last stand, Roosevelt forces mustered every possible vote to block the motion to concur, and instead to send the bill to conference.

Today's house action in overwhelming Mr. Roosevelt's reiterated demands for an end to holding companies was not unexpected. The death sentence earlier had been rejected 216 to 146 on a vote of which no record was taken. When the more drastic senate bill came up for the test the anti-administration margin jumped to 111.

More surprising was the sudden determination to investigate lobbying which President Roosevelt has charged against utilities interests and they in turn against the White House.

It was just after the final vote that Brewster arose to charge that Corcoran, one of the drafters of the abolition bill, had warned him that "if I should vote against the death sentence he would find it necessary to stop construction of the Passamaquoddy dam in my district."

Fish (R-N.Y.) then proposed a special investigation of Brewster's charges. On the motion of Pettengill (D-Ind.) it was changed to a general utilities lobbying investigation. The rules committee was ordered to do the job and chairman O'Connor (D-N.Y.) said it would begin next week.

FILES BOND
Harrisburg, Ill., July 2.—(P)—Ted Beggs, of Carrier Mills, filed bond today on a murder charge filed by State Attorney John Kane in the death of Eugene Perry, who died June 24 from a bullet wound allegedly inflicted by Beggs, during a quarrel.

A coroner's jury last night recommended Beggs be held with bail.

Randi Lerohl to Return to Job as Scrubwoman

Grand Isle, La., July 2.—(P)—Randi Lerohl, Superior, Wis., woman who three years ago floated down the Mississippi river in search of Utopia, has decided that the scrub buckets of Wisconsin are more satisfactory than the solitude of Louisiana's gulf coast and she is preparing to return north.

A woman in Oshkosh, Wis., read of her in the newspapers and has offered her transportation and a home until she finds employment. She is waiting for the bus ticket.

For three years she has been living in a small boat with a home-made cabin eking out a bare living on sea food. She has had enough of it and will return to her job as scrubwoman, from which she fled. The boat leaks, her funds are gone, her clothing is in shreds and she has missed many a meal.

SMALL JAPANESE CRUISE STEAMER SINKS; 104 DEAD

Ship Collides With Freighter; Many Rescued

Osaka, Japan, July 3.—(Wednesday)—The collision of a small Japanese cruise steamer with a freighter early today on the pitch dark, fog-bound Japanese Island Sea claimed 104 lives, a checkup by shipping officials disclosed.

Crowded with holiday passengers, the steamer Midori Maru rammed with the freighter Senzan Maru at 1 a. m. and sank almost immediately. Rescue vessels, including the Senzan Maru, picked up 91 of the 166 passengers of the Midori Maru and 56 members of the crew of 85 in the storm-tossed sea. Eleven bodies were recovered, including those of three women and an infant.

At daylight the Senzan Maru abandoned rescue efforts but police boats and other small craft, which hurried to the scene of the disaster from the nearby shore, continued to cruise around in search of survivors.

The 7,725 ton Midori Maru was en route to Beppu, a famous hot springs resort on Kyushu Island, when the lashing collision took place at 1 a. m. southwest of Kobe, off Shodo Island.

Almost immediately the passenger vessel sank, plunging its crew and passengers into the high seas. The freighter was not badly damaged and picked up scores from the other vessel.

All the victims were believed to be Japanese.

Robert Sweitzer Opens Attack On His Successor

Arguments Challenge Right Of County Board To Remove Him

Chicago, July 2.—(P)—Robert Sweitzer, ousted as Cook county treasurer after he failed to cover an alleged shortage of $414,129 in his accounts as county clerk, today started a legal attack on his successor, Joseph L. Gill. Backed by a two-yard long stack of weighty law volumes, Sweitzer's attorney, I. Harvey Levinson, opened the quo warranto hearing by citing a score of cases in which the courts had passed on the removal of officials.

His arguments challenged the right of the county board to remove Sweitzer as treasurer for acts allegedly committed while he was clerk. His citations ranged from one in Pike county in 1853 to a 1933 ruling of Attorney General Otto Kerner at the request of officials of Clay county.

"The courts have never justified a fishing expedition into the private affairs of any man because he happens to hold public office," Levinson said. The quo warranto action questions Gill's legal right to hold the treasurer's office, and the board's right to oust Sweitzer.

HARRY BROWN WEDS

St. Louis, July 2.—(P)—The marriage of Harry Brown, Jr., former Washington University football captain, to Miss Jeanne Traynor, Gillespie, Ill., Nov. 25, 1933, while the backfield star was a junior in the university, was disclosed today.

Brown, 24, was graduated last month. During the 1934 season he was rated one of the nation's leading ball carriers and a candidate for All-American honors.

BIG DEFICIT RECORDED BY GOVERNMENT

National Debt Now $28,700,000,000 Re- port Shows

By Richard L. Turner,
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, July 2.—(P)—Another bulky annual deficit—$3,575,000,000 this time—was revealed today, evoking official assertions that only through sustained business recovery can the scales of governmental finance be made to sag on the "revenue" side.

With complete figures for the fiscal year which ended Saturday showing a national debt risen to $28,700,000,000, treasury spokesmen otherwise saw but two available methods for reducing that total and these somewhat removed in point of time.

Eventually it was said, the treasury plans to apply all of its gold profits—more than $2,800,000,000—to reducing the public debt and is counting, too, on cashing in some $3,500,000,000 in assets which now back recovery loans of many types.

The figures published today at the treasury showed a cumulative deficit of $14,663,000,000 for five lean depression years, of which $9,246,000,000 was rolled up during President Roosevelt's term in office. Since he was inaugurated the government has collected $8,067,000,000 and has spent $17,343,000,000.

The half-decade, too, saw the national debt rise from its lowest post-war point to its highest level in history. It jumped upward by $12,674,000,000 from its level of $16,026,000,000 in December, 1930, to the $28,700,000,000 reported today.

Officials noted from today's figures the fact that revenues were some $685,000,000 greater than a year ago and topped the last budget estimates, made six months ago, by more than $88,000,000.

Total receipts were $3,800,000,000 with big gains in virtually all categories of revenue. The total, officials noted, was not far short of revenues collected in such rainy years as 1928 and 1929, when the treasury's income aggregated $4,042,000,000 and $4,033,000,000.

Expenditures, however, were even greater than in the fiscal year preceding. They totaled $7,375,000,000 as compared with $7,104,000,000. However, they ran far below the sum which President Roosevelt estimated would be spent. He had figured on an outgo of $8,581,000,000, or $1,206,000,000 more than was actually expended. Of the sum disbursed during the year, just closed, $3,721,000,000 went for what the treasury defines as general purposes, the cost of maintaining the government departments, as compared with $3,100,000,000 a year ago. The total for "emergency" purposes was $3,654,000,000 as compared with $4,004,000,000 in the previous twelve month period.

Must Remove U. S. Prisoners From Springfield Jail

Marshal Paul Ruppel Has Received Order From Washington

Springfield, Ill., July 2.—(P)—United States Marshal Paul Ruppel today was directed by Sanford Bates, head of the federal bureau of prisoners at Washington, to transfer 23 federal prisoners confined in the Springfield city jail.

The order followed an announcement yesterday by the bureau that the jail had been removed from the approved list because of a recent break. Five inmates, four of whom were charged with federal offenses, escaped several weeks ago.

"The bureau does not feel justified in using the Springfield jail until new officials have demonstrated the type of management and control of prisoners which they will maintain," the telegram from Bates read, "remove the prisoners as directed."

Ruppel said the transfer will be made as soon as possible and that 10 of the prisoners will be taken to penitentiaries. The other 13 will probably be taken to the Madison county jail at Edwardsville, Ill., he said.

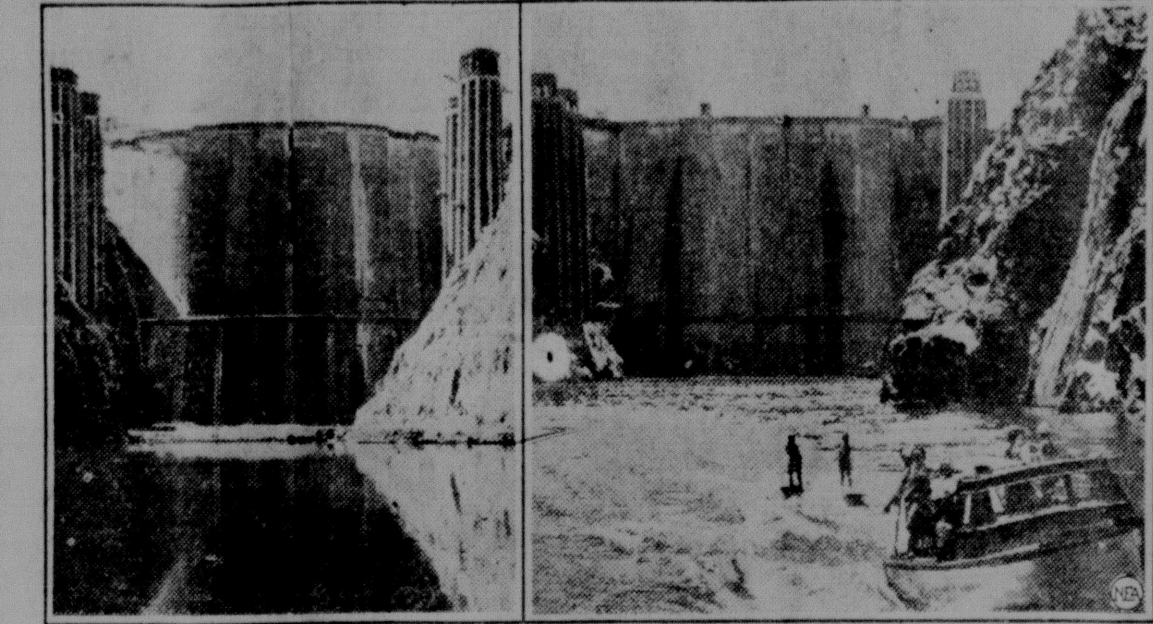

STILL REPUBLICANS

Joliet, Ill., July 2.—(P)—Plainfield Township in Will county absolutely refuses to go Democratic. Republican adherents were hard put in yesterday's judicial election to keep from giving Judge Francis S. Wilson a majority, since their party had not named a candidate for the State Supreme Court. But when the 26 votes cast in the township were counted today, the judges learned 15 voters had written in the name of William C. Miller, G. O. P. stalwart.

VETIRAN DIES

Robbinsdale, Minn., July 2.—(P)—John F. Hondorf, 79, who as a child in Springfield, Ill., often rode on the shoulders of Abraham Lincoln, near whom his parents lived, died here today. He was a long time employee of the Bell Telephone Company.

Well, Well, Boulder Lake! How You've Grown!

At left, the shallow lake is pictured before diversion tunnels were closed. At right is a recent picture of the man-made lake—now 200 feet deep and more than 50 miles long—over which skims a motorboat laden with merry vacationists. Bedraggled Women Will Be Arraigned On Charges of Murdering H. C. Dickinson

Federal Trade Commission To Set Up Codes

Administration Will Not Force Labor Agreements

Washington, July 2.—(P)—The job of negotiating voluntary business codes to replace the demolished NRA's structure today was placed by President Roosevelt in the federal trade commission.

Further, it was learned authoritatively that the administration had decided against attempting to force labor provisions into voluntary industrial agreements. It was reported wage and hour limitations will go in only when requested by business applicants for codes.

These decisions turning down a cooperative program worked out by the commission and NRA and still further trimming the new recovery unit's authority, were understood to have been made at a White House conference attended by the trade commissioners, attorney general Cummings and James L. O'Neill, NRA chief.

The commission and NRA had worked out a program whereby the commission would have main charge of trade practice provisions and NRA would have charge of wage and hour provisions in such fair competition agreements. His view may have been a factor in the decision.

The situation removed virtually all doubts about new legislation at this session of congress, although both labor and industry groups have submitted plans to the president.

William Green, president of American Federation of Labor, said, following a second NRA White House conference, that he doubted "new legislation will be passed at this session because of the shortness of time and the state of mind in congress."

Father Coughlin Continues Fight In Chicago Court

Battles To Gain Permission To Hold Meeting In Soldier Field

Chicago, July 2.—(P)—Several hundred spectators crowded a superior court room and the adjacent corridor today for another round of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's fight to gain permission to deliver an address in the huge Soldier Field amphitheater. Mindful of the demonstration at last week's hearing, two dozen deputy bailiffs and policemen patrolled a wing of the county building near the chamber but limited their activities to turning away several dozen persons who sought to join the throng.

Samuel A. Ettelson, attorney for the Detroit Priest, drew a cheer as he entered the court room, where Judge James J. Kelly instructed him to file an amended petition next Friday in his effort to obtain a writ of mandamus to compel the Chicago park board to rent soldier field to Father Coughlin.

Attorney Benjamin Meyer, who attempted to file an intervening petition in behalf of the communist party of America, was told to make his motion Friday after the jurist ascertained he had not paid the $5 appearance fee.

H. A. Casteel was among the Rood-house visitors in this city yesterday.

MURDER CHARGES LODGED AGAINST CHICAGO MAN

Claims He Failed To Keep Suicide Pact With Wife

Detroit, July 2.—(P)—Two bedraggled women, former dancers in cheap burlesque theaters, waited fearfully in their cells today for arraignment on murder charges for their part in the robbery plot which ended in the slaying of Howard Carter Dickinson.

With the women—Loretta Jackson, 27, and her sister, Florence, 24—will be arraigned William Lee Ferris, 26, who has confessed that he fired the shots which killed the New York attorney in Rouge park here early last Thursday morning.

"The three will be charged with first degree murder," said Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, "but the arraignment may not take place until Thursday. There are still a few points to be cleared up in this case."

McCrea indicated that Jean Miller, 23, the third member of the trio of "entertainers" who lured Dickinson from his hotel to his trust with death in the robbery which yielded the perpetrators $134, would be used as a state witness.

The case may move speedily to a close with the arraignments. All four have confessed, and from one of their attorneys came intimations today that they might plead guilty. The maximum penalty for the crime they have admitted is life imprisonment.

Bernard A. Boggio, chief assistant prosecutor, said Ernest Goodman, Ferris' attorney, had told him he probably would advise Ferris to repeat his confession in court. John Buerzan, the Jackson sisters' lawyer, did not comment on courthouse reports that his clients would follow the same course.

McCrea and Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm scoffed at Ferris' offer to assist them in finding Merton Ward Goodrich, mad trap drummer sought for the slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher here last September. If they would "go easy" on him.

"He has no information on the Gallaher case," Frahm said.

Frahm is checking police records of unsolved slayings and robberies to determine if they are linked with the "cocktail bar racketeering" which the Miller woman said the four under arrest had practiced by striking up acquaintances in barrooms with men who appeared to have money, then plotting to "get them drunk and roll them."

In Chicago, police were searching for the pistol which Ferris said he threw away there when he and the women fled from Detroit after Dickinson, 52-year-old nephew of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, was slain.

STATE APPLIES FOR POLICE RADIO PERMIT

Washington, July 2.—(P)—The federal communications commission today authorized moving the transmitter of station WJJD from Moseheart, Ill., to Des Plaines, Ill.

The Reporter Printing company, Fond Du Lac, Wis., was granted an extension of special temporary authorization of station KFIZ to operate from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4 to 9 p. m. (CST) during July, instead of 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. and 4 to 10 P. M.

A hearing was ordered on the application of the Champaign News-Gazette at Champaign, Ill., for a construction permit for a new 100-watt station.

The commission denied stations KQV at Pittsburgh, Pa., WFMM at Dayton, Ohio, an extension of special authority to operate simultaneously from 8 p. m. to midnight.

The state of Illinois applied for a construction permit for a state police broadcasting station to operate with 1000 watts power at Springfield, Ill.

Harrisburg, Ill., July 2.—(P)—Mrs. Lillie Watson, Marion, Ky., and her seven-month-old baby son were critically injured today at Cavein Rock when a truck backed into the Watson automobile.

Mrs. Watson suffered a broken arm and severe lacerations. The baby received internal injuries and a broken arm. The driver of the truck is unknown.

RUSSIANS FEAR ATTACKS FROM JAPAN, GERMANY

Potato Bill to Be Considered By House, Senate

Washington, July 2.—(P)—The potato control bill, which has had up and down in committee since it was introduced early in the session by Representative Warren (D. N. C.), today finally appeared headed for consideration on the floors of the House and Senate.

The House agriculture committee, which has held numerous hearings on the proposal to make potatoes a basic commodity and authorize sales allotments for commercial producers, was said by an informed source to be ready to make a favorable report on the bill next Monday.

The bill would authorize a tax of 75 cents a hundred pounds on potatoes sold in excess of sales quotas. It would become effective against the 1936 crop with provision for a referendum on extension through another year.

VIRGIN ISLANDS PROBE PRECEDED BY FIST FIGHT

Paul Yates Receives Blackened Eye And Swollen Face

By Ford Wilkins
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, July 2.—(P)—His eye cut and blackened and his face swollen, Paul Yates, chief accuser of Governor Paul M. Pearson of the Virgin Islands, charged tonight the fist fight that preceded the opening of the senate investigation today was "part of the mailed fist tactics used by the Pearson crowd."

Robert S. Allen, who collaborates in the writing of a Washington column with Drew Pearson, son of the white-haired governor, traded blows with Yates in the lobby of the senate office building. The two were separated by capital police.

"It was a premeditated and deliberate attack," Yates charged. "It is on a par with the tactics of the interior department and the Pearson administration, and in line with the intimidation and mailed fist we've had to contend with ever since this trouble started."

Informed of Yates' assertions, Allen called them "absurd" and "fantastic."

"I had nothing whatever to do with any parties to the case," Allen said. "Besides Yates was the aggressor. He made a pass at me first."

Yates failed to appear at the opening of the hearing of charges of maladministration in the islands. He said he would not press charges against Allen.

Governor Pearson, who has denied all the charges Yates has placed against him, said Allen was the one who recommended Yates for a job in the Virgin Islands government. Yates later was removed by Pearson for "the good of the service."

"Allen has been boiling with rage ever since because of some of the things Yates did while in my administration," Pearson said.

In view of the nature of some of Yates' charges, spectators who jammed the senate caucus room remarked at the mildness of the first witness, Charles H. Gibson, former Virgin Islands district attorney, also ousted by Pearson "for the good of the service."

Made only two specific charges against the governor—lack of frankness in official dealings and refusal to provide Gibson with secretarial assistance, which the witness said evidenced the governor's policy of "petty persecution."

Victor Thompson Is Back In Jail

Peoria, Ill., July 2.—(P)—Victor Thompson, 23, was back in the county jail where his brother, Gerald, is held as the attack slayer of pretty Mildred Hallmark, tonight, after he failed to provide a $5,000 bond for his release.

Taken hurriedly into court today Victor waived preliminary hearing to a charge of taking indecent liberties with an eight year old boy and was hurried back to the jail where his brother has been carefully guarded since his arraignment on a charge of murder.

Victor was locked-up in a first floor cell, two floors below the carefully guarded quarters of his brother, Gerald, from whom word of his brother's arrest was withheld, is facing trial for murder of the 19-year-old cafe hostess.

SUICIDE VERDICT

Metropolis, Ill., July 2.—(P)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of suicide in the drowning Sunday of Delbert Bradley, 47, Joppe, Mo., negro.

SOVIETS STUDY SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST

Russia Receives No Reply From Note To Japanese

By John Lloyd
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Moscow, July 2.—(P)—The situation in the far east was studied closely by the Soviet government tonight while Tokyo remained silent on a Russian note protesting border incidents.

Dairen reports that Moscow had ordered Russian nationals to leave Manchukuo and Shanghai before August 25 (not carried by the Associated Press) were officially denied by the foreign office, which labelled them an "invention."

Soviet authorities said they had received no reply to their protest yesterday to Japan against alleged frontier violations. The official news agency said it carried a Tokyo dispatch quoting newspaper suggestions that the frontier zone be demilitarized.

Soviet Russia's controlled press today charged Japan's "deliberate provocations along with the Siberian border and Germany's asserted preparations to attack European Russia placed the Soviet in grave peril of war."

The communist party organ Pravda, commenting on Russia's vigorous protest to Tokyo against alleged violations of Soviet territory by Japanese and Manchukuan forces during recent months, said:

"These incidents may be explained only in the sense that there is a definite plan by Japanese militarists to create complications on the frontier. Pravda also said Russia's Baltic fleet was being increased to offset the concentration of German naval units in those waters, asserting Germany was preparing to use the Baltic as its base of operations against European Russia."

"The Germans dream of conquering Soviet territory up to the Ural mountains," the party organ charged. "Consequently the Soviet must increase its defenses, and the Baltic fleet is growing in size from year to year. The fleet now is conducting war maneuvers, with Kronstadt as its base."

Another militant anti-Japanese note was sounded by the organ of the war department, the "red star," which demanded that an end be put "once and for all" to incursions into Russia's far eastern territory.

A "greater Japan" at the expense of the Soviet is the aim of Japanese militarists, it added, saying "it would be very dangerous to mistake our efforts to prevent war for a sign of weakness."

Two-Car Train Derailed Near Pecatonica, Ill.

Expressman Is Rescued From Burning Car; Passen- gers Escaped Injury

Pecatonica, Ill., July 2.—(P)—A two-car motorized passenger train of the Chicago & North Western railway was derailed and partially burned near here tonight when a bridge weakened by a sudden flood, collapsed.

Henry (Tug) Wilson, Chicago, an expressman, was rescued from the burning front car of the train just before its gasoline tanks exploded, after he had been trapped. A half dozen passengers, temporarily marooned as the car sagged into the creek, escaped unhurt.

Wilson was pulled from the burning car by Fred G. Wolfe of Belvidere, foreman of the express crew and suffered only an injured heel. About 20 stacks of mail from Pecatonica and Freeport were burned.

The flood which weakened the bridge followed a storm of cloudburst proportions, which sent Kerr creek on a rampage.

The water swept three highway bridges away, drove more than a score of people from their homes and caused property damage estimated at $100,000 as it overflowed its banks.

Oregon, Ill., July 2.—(P)—State Highway No. 2 was closed near here today after a severe rainstorm washed away about 15 feet of grading under the concrete.

Highway officials said the paving did not crumble, but in some places the water cut holes as much as 12 feet deep under the road. Detours were ordered until way crews could repair the storm damage.

BOY DROWNED

Ottawa, Ill., July 2.—(P)—Wayne Schmitz, 11, was drowned today when he slipped into a 20 foot hole while wading in a sand pit. He was the son of Mrs. J. B. Schmitz.

60,000 Jobs Open

On July 1 Uncle Sam opened jobs for 60,000 young men in the army, navy and marine corps. Appropriations by Congress, greatly increased in the past year, enable the government to bring its military units up to full peace-time strength. Recruiting stations have been opened throughout the country and applications for enlistment are already being received.

The army is to add 47,000 new soldiers to its rolls, bringing the total to 165,000 men. The navy will add 11,000, bringing its strength to 93,000 men. Eleven hundred will be added to the Marine Corps, giving that fighting unit a total of 16,000 enlisted strength. The men are to be recruited and trained within six months.

Calls are also being issued for more officers of the line, and for 600 new cadets for West Point. The new recruits for the army will be distributed among the various units to bring them up to full strength. The navy will use its additional bluejackets to man new craft now under construction. The marines will be placed in ship detachments.

The new campaign for recruits should give permanent jobs to 60,000 American youths, many of whom are roaming about the country or wondering where they can find work. The life of a soldier may bring the first real work to hundreds of young men who have come into their majority during the depression and have been unable to find employment. In the nation's military forces, they will receive training, discipline, perhaps the opportunity to learn a trade or receive technical instruction, good food, clothing and maybe a chance to see the world. Altogether, it is not a bad start for a career.

He Wouldn't Get Drunk

If Howard Carter Dickinson had gotten drunk in Detroit, he might have been alive today. Said William Lee Ferris, who has confessed that he shot Dickinson when he refused to put up his hands:

"We thought he had a lot of money, so we agreed to get him drunk and roll him. But he wouldn't get drunk."

Ferris and three other young men are involved in the plot that resulted in the death of the young attorney. The girls admitted that their business was getting men drunk so they could be "rolled" for their money. Dickinson associated with this dangerous quartet, but he failed to meet all the requirements for their kind of holdup. He simply refused to get drunk.

Dickinson had no way of knowing the fate in store for him. But he should have known better than to associate with strangers who were trying to induce him to drink. According to Ferris' story Dickinson looked like "big dough." That was sufficient to call for a major crime, as far as the gang was concerned. "Rolling" a drunken victim was safe, but if murder were necessary, they could and would do that also.

This is one of many stories of the underworld and how it traps the unwary stranger in a strange city who wants to "play around" a bit. Dickinson refused to take the underworld seriously—he is dead. Had he let the young strangers entirely alone, he would still be a useful member of society.

The Good Dog, Brag

Brag has the reputation of being a good dog, but Hold-fast is a better one. So runs the ancient saw, and in it there is considerable truth. But bragging seems to be a rather natural form of amusement, especially for those who have not made much success in their later years. If they have not amounted to much since their friends became acquainted with them, they hark back to their youth and find something about which they can talk.

When Robin Hood outshot Prince Robert in the archery contest, the beaten nobleman could think of no explanation except: "My granddrew a good bow at the battle of Hastings." He went a long way back to seek covering for his own failure. But he had something to boast about.

Thus when Dad was a boy he was a good runner, or he could find more birds' nests than the other boys. Maybe he was the champion marble player. Aunt Mary was the best speller in school when she was a girl. Grandpa could wield an axe in his younger days and fell a tree in record time. Uncle John used to "pull the ribbons over the finest pair of horses in the county."

But there is little hope for the person whose achievements are in the past. Unless he has done something worthy of real fame and has done some real service for his community, his boasts bring only tolerant smiles. Such boasting should not begin at so early an age, lest the boaster indicate he has failed to achieve anything in the immediate present. The Englishman who bragged that he could trace his ancestry back to William the Conqueror, was asked by one of his hearers:

"What else can you do?"

Drug Addiction Grows

According to good authority drug addiction in the United States is much greater than in the countries of the old world, and it is on the increase. Opium smoking is the principal drug habit of Americans. While it is less disastrous than the use of cocaine. It is bad enough and will bring its victim to misery and death.

The opening of the U. S. Narcotic Farm at Lexington, Ky., is one more effort of the government to cope with this evil. It is the plan at this new institution to cure addicts under strict prison discipline. The farm will combine the features of a hospital and a prison, with plenty of wholesome work for the inmates to assist with the cure.

Wars have always been responsible for an increase in the number of drug addicts. This was noted after the civil war, and it has certainly followed the world war. Uncle Sam is doing all he can to stamp out the evil. The law against vicious drugs is probably more vigorously enforced than any other federal statute. The new narcotic farm will assist greatly in cutting down the number of addicts.

Guards for the Glorious Fourth

Education, substitution of milder amusements and legislation are combining to take the din and destruction out of the "Glorious Fourth." What used to be a "gruesome flick" with its powder-burned, lock-jaw, fingerless victims, is beginning to be just another summer day.

Albany, N. Y., isn't taking any chances with fireworks problems at all this year. The city council is calling into service for Fourth of July not only the ordinance banning sale of fireworks, but also the anti-noise ordinance passed a year ago, according to the U. S. Municipal News.

It is illegal in Albany to "make, continue or cause to be made any unnecessary or unusual noise between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. which may annoy, injure or endanger the comfort, repose, health or safety of others." Between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. it is unlawful to make any noise which endangers comfort, repose, health or safety; unless the same be necessary for protection of property or health. This lets out fireworks, says the council.

Safety moves against the approaching Fourth are reported by a number of other cities:

Wilmington, Del. this year is following a policy of stringent enforcement of its ordinance forbidding the use of fireworks in the city, already arresting offenders. Mere possession, as well as the transportation, of fireworks is a violation of the Wilmington law.

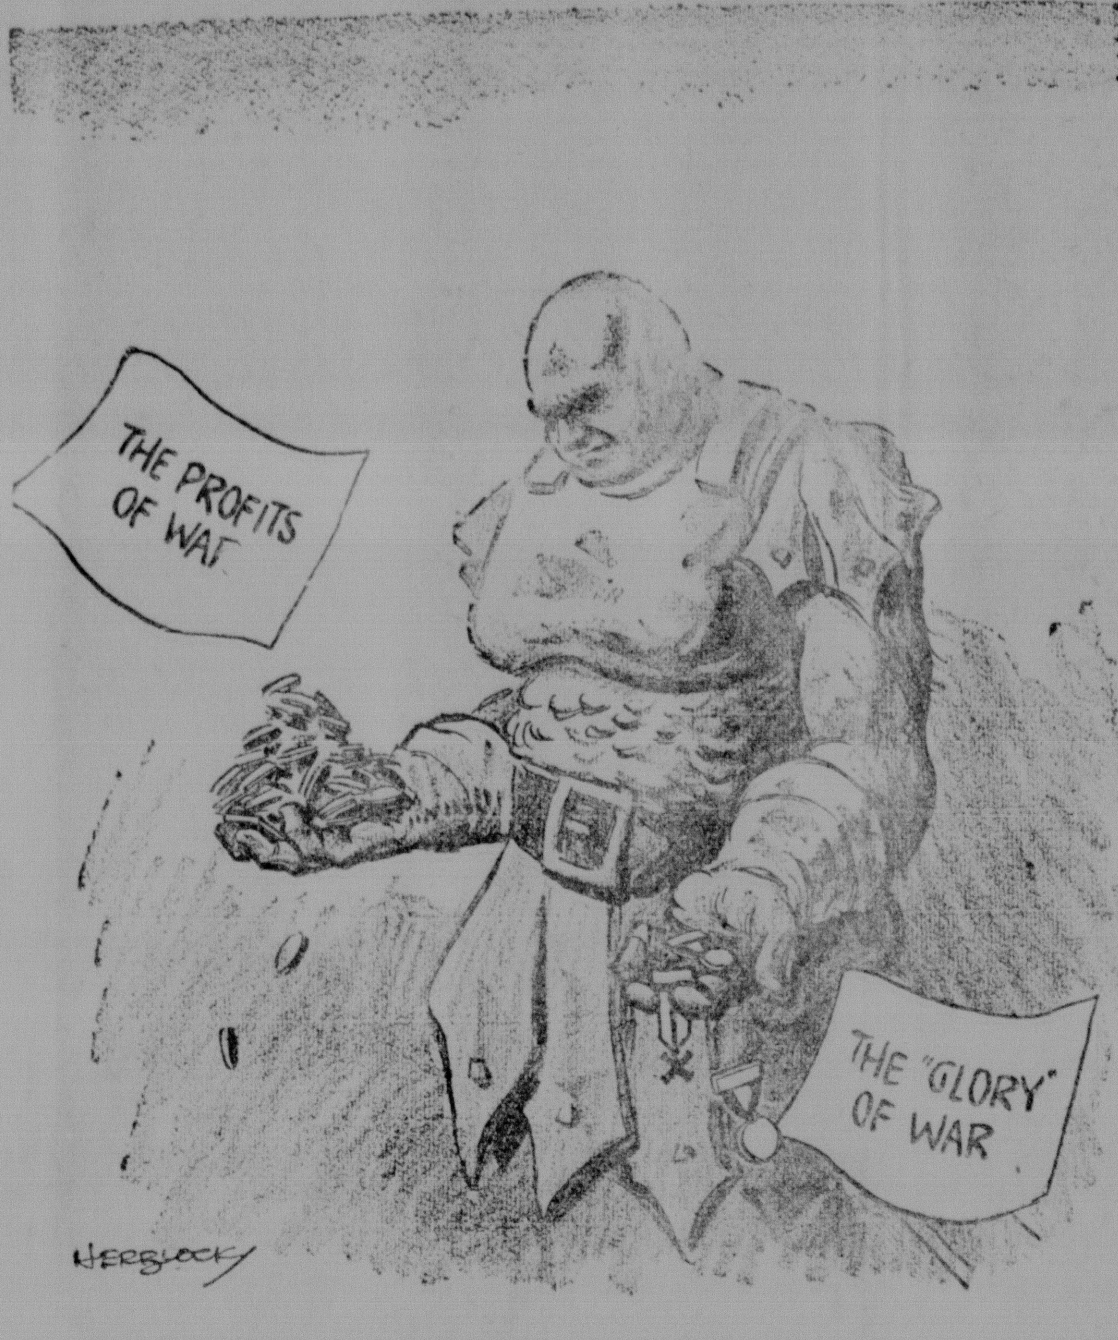

Pittsburgh's recently enacted fireworks ordinance prohibits the sale or use of fireworks except for public displays under expert supervision. Violators of the law are subject to a fine of $50 or 30 days in jail.

Milwaukee's fireworks ordinance, going into effect this July 4, bars sale, exposure for sale, use or discharge of any fireworks, including firecrackers, caps, torpedoes, sky rockets, Roman candles—everything except red flares. Public displays of fireworks under competent supervision are allowed, but for these, permits are to be issued by the mayor. The penalty for violation is a fine of from $10 to $250 or imprisonment of not more than six months in the house of correction.

Wichita's (Kans.) fireworks ordinance, now a year old, prohibits sale of fireworks except on July 4 and the three business days before. Firecrackers can be shot off only between the hours of 6 p. m. on July 3 and midnight July 4. Certain types of fireworks are entirely forbidden, among them "nigger chasers," Roman candles of over twelve balls, all firecrackers and salutes over 3 inches long and more than 1/2 inches thick. All magic snakes which contain poisonous compounds, blank cartridges and flare parachutes.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Fight Over Holding Company Bill Brings Intense Drama to Congress . . . Lobby Army of Record Power Combats Gladiators Corcoran and Cohen . . . Telegrams Deluge Congressmen.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—"When the electrical industry makes a real fight," said a powerful Southern public utility magnate in a letter recently received by an official here, "it can command more influence than the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor and a dozen other organizations besides."

That boast was put to a dramatic test in the industry's fight against the Roosevelt public utilities bill in the House.

For the "power trust" was frantic. Its lobbyists wouldn't stand still to be counted, but there seemed no reason to doubt a commonly accepted estimate that it had assembled between 500 and 600 of them to work upon the lobbyists' art.

Lawyers, power company officials, bankers and others had been brought in from nearly every state to bear down on representatives from their home districts.

An unconvinced congressman could be rather sure of suffocation within a few hours under bags of telegrams from constituents. Back went the word from Washington to turn the heat on him.

Congresswoman Caroline O'Day of New York reported 15,000 telegrams almost overnight and said she knew had received at least as many.

Reports to Capitol Hill told of districts where utility companies had scores of canvassers out gathering signatures for telegrams.

Scene Is Dramatic One

In the galleries, tense, sat high officials and agents of Associated Gas and Electric, Commonwealth Edison, Chase National Bank, Public Service of New Jersey, the Edison Electric Institute, and dozens of other utility groups.

They had spent millions of dollars to beat Roosevelt's attempt to divest the giant holding companies of management control over thousands of local operating companies.

"There has never been a time before when a lobby has made it harder for congressmen to do an honest job for the people than the utility lobby is making it now!" exclaimed Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas.

Brilliant Pair Lead Fight

Early in the morning of the biggest day of debate, a small, grim group sat in an office high in the R.F.C. building. Chief figures there were young Tom Corcoran, brilliant, tireless, fast-working, and Ben Cohen, tall, drawing, philosophical—and in some respects the outstanding legal expert of the New Deal.

These two were co-authors of the securities, stock market and holding company bill. Disciples of Dr. Felix Frankfurter and Justice Brandeis, they entered the New Deal after some years of inside experience in Wall Street.

For months, this Corcoran-Cohen duo probably had worked harder and longer over a sustained period than anyone else ever worked in Washington, their daily schedule lately running from 10 a. m. to 2 a. m. Working with progressives and

Democrats who stood by the president on the bill, they had lobbied, cajoled, rigged up radio speeches for the bill, coached friendly congressmen, traded on minor points, attended social gatherings to fight the opposition lobbyists in the latter's favorite arena, and spent hours in daily huddles planning the best strategy with which to battle a wily, determined opposition.

Rally New Deal Forces

The group of young New Dealers—between a shower of telephone calls on two or three phones—were receiving their orders of the day.

Crisis had arrived. Administration leaders had virtually deserted the president, after a conservative coalition on Rayburn's committee, led by Democrats Huddleston of Alabama and Pettigill of Indiana, had knocked out the provision requiring dissolution of holding company control.

Perhaps a bit too late, the New Deal feared, administration forces had realized they should have done more to nullify utility broadcasts that the bill carried a "death sentence" which would destroy values and holding companies together.

The bill was really drafted as an

"emancipation proclamation" which freed local power companies from rule by a few men in New York and turned back the management so that operating companies might run themselves again while holding companies, functioning as investment trusts and divorced from management, might go on holding investments in any number of companies.

Perhaps a few wavering congressmen might still be convinced of this. So saying, the young New Dealers marched toward Capitol Hill for the final death struggle.

WEATHERMARKS Merry Workers Club FALL IN GREENE Of Lynnville Meets

Unseasonable Temperatures Are Experienced At Carrollton

Carrollton, Ill.—With the year half gone at midnight Sunday it seems as if a few more weather records have fallen during the month of June which ended Sunday. As far as records are available, the month with an average temperature of 69.5 is one of the coolest Junes on record here. On only one day up to Sunday the mercury reached 90. Remembering the sweltering heat they were bearing at this time last year, residents have hunted blankets on at least one-half the nights of the month as temperatures ranged from 45 to 60 degrees. On two nights a low of 45 and 46 was reached.

Last year's June average was 83.6 and there were 22 days on which the temperature was over 90 and five on which it was over 100. A year ago Friday, it reached 103 degrees and mounted steadily in early July until 114 was reached here on two days. The average this year is 51 degrees lower than the normal June. Precipitation during the month, as near as any accurate figure is obtainable, had amounted to over 6 inches up to noon Sunday with a fairly heavy rain falling then. The heaviest rainfall all of the month occurred Friday, June 28 when 1.6 inches fell in less than a half hour. Seventy hundredths of an inch fell June 20. Last year's total rainfall for the month was 2.7 most of which fell in the first week. On 10 days rain was accompanied by thunder and lightning and on 7 days by heavy winds. Seven days were recorded as clear, 13 days as partly cloudy and 10 days cloudy.

News Notes

Several changes have been reported during the past week of Catholic clergy who at some time were located here or who are very well known here. A recent issue of this paper told of the transfer of the Very Rev. Msgr. Thos. E. Cusack, R. D. and Right Rev. Monsignor John Joseph Driscoll, R. D., both former pastors of St. John's church here. Rev. Cusack was pastor here from Nov. 1, 1921 until Nov. 29, 1925. Rev. Driscoll was here from July, 1903 until July, 1907. Other changes made are Rev. Daniel O'Grady from pastor at Alexander to chaplain of St. Joseph's Home for the Aged at Springfield. Father O'Grady came here from Ireland immediately after his ordination and served as assistant at St. John's during the tenure of Rev. Thos. E. Cusack. Very Rev. Msgr. W. T. Sloan, Diocesan Director of the Society of Propagation of Faith has been made the new pastor at Mattoon. Rev. Sloan is very widely known here as he was a frequent visitor on his missions of that society. Rev. David L. Scully has been promoted to succeed Msgr. Sloan to Director of the Society of the Propagation of Faith.

Added Attractions For Fourth of July At State Hospital

Preparations for Big Event Well Under Way; "Rhythm Blenders" Will Sing

Preparations for the Fourth of July celebration at the state hospital are well under way. The fireworks have arrived, and men are busy putting up the "set" pieces. The tents used in the celebration are up and carpenters are building the counters and other needed equipment.

The merry-go-round is up and ready to run. Owing to the working of this device in the storm last year, there was some doubt as to whether it could be repaired. The tornado scattered it all over the north lawn.

The gymnasium is about ready for the doll-pet and flower shows. When the great day dawns everything will be in readiness for one of the biggest celebrations held in recent years.

The management of the State hospital is very happy to announce an added feature to their Fourth of July program. The "Rhythm Blenders," a trio composed of pupils of Mrs. Lois Hardin, the Misses Wilma Ross, Frances Moxon and Frances Kemp will render several solos during the dance program in the early evening hour.

They will sing "I'll Never Say Never Again," "What's the Reason I'm Not Pleading You," "Lullaby of Broadway" and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

Entries for the various shows: pet, doll, and flower shows as well as the doll buggy parade should be made early and delivered to the hospital gymnasium not later than 9:00 a. m. the morning of July 4th in order that the judges will have an opportunity to judge the entire display. Judging of the various shows will commence promptly at 9:15 a. m. as these points of interest are opened to the patients and exhibitors at 9:30 a. m.

There will be a night watch assigned to the gymnasium the evening of July 3rd for those who desire to bring their entries early. The gymnasium is equipped with electric fans and will be kept cool and plenty of water will be available so that the pets will be comfortable.

JERSEYVILLE WOMAN SUSTAINS WOUND ON HEAD IN ACCIDENT

Jerseyville—Mrs. Fred Watts is confined to her home in Jerseyville suffering from a severe laceration across her forehead which was sustained in an automobile accident near Flat River, Mo.

Mrs. Watts was enroute to her home in Jerseyville following a visit with relatives in Paragould, Ark. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Robert King and Mrs. John Aven of Jerseyville and Mrs. Fred Wieland of Alton.

While their car was traveling on Route 67 near Flat River, Mo., a boy riding a bicycle turned into their pathway as they were attempting to pass him. Mrs. King was driving the car at the time and swerved the auto sharply to the left to miss the bicycle rider and the car ran into the ditch.

The impact of the car with the embankment at the roadside, threw Mrs. Watts against the back of the front seat, and her head was badly cut. She was taken to a hospital and it was necessary for several stitches to be taken to close the wound. The others in the car escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Although the season is as yet young, Ray Zell almost carved his name in deep letters as one of the stand-out flingers of the year when he let down the Wells Oilers last night in a Tw-Y-Light league game 7 to 1 and allowed only one hit. Pool's single in the first inning was the only blow he allowed.

The lone Indie error in the fifth inning followed by three walks, let in the only run. Zell walked six and hit one player with a pitch in marking up his near-perfect game.

The Oilers blew J. Rush off the hill with a five run attack in the second inning and Pool came in from center field to finish.

Kicking the ball all around the diamond, the Morgan Aces and the Jacksonville Ice and Cold Storage put on an old fashioned error-bee at the Nichols Park diamond yesterday in a Tw-Y-Light league game of hardball, with the Morgan Aces winning by a 10 to 4 score. Fifteen errors were marked up during the game.

Stainsforth limited the Icemen to four blows in the seven inning contest, two of which went for extra bases.

Even up after the first inning, in which both teams scored two runs, the Morgan Aces turned on their hitting power to drive one finger off the rubber. Paul Smith took over the mound work and kept the Aces in hand.

Turning on his best game of tennis, Bobby Hamm, southpaw city champion, stormed through Merrill Kesinger, White Hall, in straight sets to win the open gold medal in the final match of the ninth annual Journal and Courier tennis championship Tuesday afternoon on the MacMurray College courts.

Ripping loose hard drives that caught the corner and sides of the court, and outmaneuvering his district champion rival from start to finish, Hamm lost only four games while winning the 18 he needed for the championship. Only in the first set was Kesinger able to overcome the local youngster who blustered the court with hard placed shots, and caused his opponent to cover a lot of ground in making returns.

Hamm didn't let down for a minute, poking, slamming and rushing the net to get his shots home for points. The city champion drummed a 4-2 victory in the first set, whaled home a 6-1 victory in the second set, and had a love set on the way until the sixth game of the third set, which Hamm won 6-1.

Opens Reserve.

Not during the city championship tournament did Hamm show the fire he opened up against Kesinger. He appeared to have a lot in reserve during the city matches, but saved it up for the climax, returning to the city again the open title Jet Sunderland of Jerseyville took away last year when he gave Elmer Lukeman his first defeat in tournament play.

Calmly, and with the same "poker-face" expression, Hamm gracefully stroked the ball all over the court to keep Kesinger on the jump. The White Hall did not appear to be quite up to form, but even if he had been he would have found the going tough, for Hamm's shots were bouncing off the side and baselines with relentless accuracy.

There were only four or five times during the whole match that Hamm missed fire on a drive or placement that crossed the net. The remainder of the time his shots were dropping either where Kesinger had a tough time reaching them, or where he would have to be pulled out of position for the next shot.

After halving the first two games in the opening set, Hamm won the third game by losing only two points, and then won the next two games after they had gone to deuce. Kesinger pulled out the next game after it had been deuced, and then Hamm won two games, losing only three points, to clean up the first set with a score of 6-2.

Bears Down in Third.

Kesinger appeared to hit a new low in his game during the opening three games of the second set when Hamm took three games and lost only four points, but the White Hall automaton regained his form to win the fourth game. Hamm snatched the next three two of which went to deuce, to take the second set 6-1.

After halving the first two games in the opening set, Hamm won the third game by losing only two points, and then won the next two games after they had gone to deuce. Kesinger pulled out the next game after it had been deuced, and then Hamm won two games, losing only three points, to clean up the first set with a score of 6-2.

Pouring everything he had into the game in order to stop any possible hopes Kesinger might have of staging one of his famous rallies and prolong the match to five sets, Hamm bore down relentlessly and won five games in a row. He lost only six points in winning the five straight games, and gave one of those points away with a shot that failed to drop in along the side of the court. Kesinger staged off the impending defeat by winning the sixth game, but Hamm clinched the match by taking the next game while losing only one point.

Yankees Trounce Athletics 8 To 5

Philadelphia, July 2.—(P)—Rallying in the late innings with two clusters of three runs each and another of two, the New York Yankees took the measure of the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 5 in the first engagement of their two-game series today.

The A's got away to a three-run lead, counting one in each of the first, fourth and fifth innings, but the Yankees tied it up with a three-run rally in the sixth. The Mackmen moved ahead in their half of the frame only to have the Yankees score three times again in the eighth as Lou Gehrig hit his tenth homer with Red Rolfe on the sacks.

In the ninth, Johnny Murphy's double, a triple by Earle Combs and Ben Chapman's single sent two more across the plate.

Tigers Smother Indians 8 To 3

Detroit, July 2.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers climbed over Cleveland into second place in the American League pennant race today by shellingacking the Tribe for the second time in as many days, 8-3.

The victory gave the Tigers an 11 point edge over Cleveland in the pursuit of the speeding Yanks who continued their winning ways by taking the Athletics into camp today.

Tommy Bridges hurled the distance for the winners and let the Tribe down with seven hits, two of them homers. Winegarner, who relieved Walter Stewart on the mound in the sixth, connected for a circuit clout in the seventh and Campbell clouted one over the fence in the eighth.

Cleveland's other run came as a result of early wildness by Bridges. He walked the first two men to face him, Galatzer and Knickerbocker. Vosmik singled to fill the bases and Galatzer scored when Campbell forced Vosmik. Cleveland, 100 000 110-3 7 0

Louis Will Fight King Levinsky

Chicago, July 2.—(P)—Joe Louis, the Detroit bomber, will get his chance to throw punches at King Levinsky's chin in the Cub's baseball park, probably during the first week in August.

Just what date will be selected, and whether it will be a ten or fifteen round bout, will be definitely decided perhaps tomorrow.

Mike Jacobs, head of the twentieth century sporting club of New York; Harold Steinman, representing Levinsky; Julian Black, acting for Louis, will meet with promoter Joe Foley tomorrow to thrash out the details.

They were set to do so today, but were forced to postpone it because Louis, participating in a homecoming at Detroit, was unable to arrive by plane until late.

Jacobs, who had Louis under option for two bouts, said he would not be associated with Foley in promoting the match and that his only interest was protecting his option on the Detroit negro services. He said, however, he would be glad to assist Foley, now blind, in handling details.

"I believe Louis will become the next heavyweight champion," Jacobs said. "I have him signed up and must make sure that he does not do things that are violations of our contract. I am willing to release Louis' services to Foley for a bout with Levinsky, which, in my opinion, should draw at least $150,000."

Brooklyn, July 2.—(P)—Ray Bengie, pitching a complete game for the first time since May 17, held the Boston Braves to three hits as the Brooklyn Dodgers won the first game of the series 5 to 0 today.

The Braves, with Wally Berger getting the only extra-base hit, a double in the fourth, did not get a runner as far as third base until the ninth, when Bengie handed out two of his five walks. Bob Brown was touched for eight blows, seven of which came in the first three innings when the Dodgers scored four of their runs.

FAN BREEZES

Bobby Hamm, a left handed racket swinger, can well claim the district championship. He won it yesterday, but disregarding the scores, he gave one of the sweetest performances we have seen any of the local tennis players give.

His shots were zooming across the net with a lot of zip at times barely skimming the tape. His eye was drawn needle fine on the top of that barrier, and he kept the ball from banging in to it.

Not only was he just skimming the top of the net, but he was putting more steam behind his punches, stroking beautifully all the way, using good judgement on his placements, and putting enough zip on these to pass Kesinger several times.

Kesinger, however, wasn't shooting his best game. We don't believe it would have made a whole lot of difference, in the final analysis, because of the way Hamm was putting his shots in Kesinger's court. The White Hall player would have won more games, and might even have pushed the match to four or five sets, but Hamm was shooting steadily.

Hamm refused to be bothered by one of Kesinger's pet shots—a low drive that hits the tape and then rolls over. Kesinger got at least eight of these shots during the match.

Anyway, the Journal and Courier wants to thank all of those persons who played in the tournament for their fine sportsmanship, their promptness and for their cooperation in making the tournament the big success it was.

The newspapers feel that they are privileged to sponsor a tournament for the tennis players, and to have the champions of the three divisions looked upon as the best players in the city and district.

Softball is graduating into big time stuff now. The game now has its own publication, the "International Softball News," edited by Hal Totten, well known Chicago sports writer and commentator.

Fish and Skeeters Biting, Anglers Say

Waltonians Invade Quiet Places and Catch a Few; Tell How It's Done

Some say that fish sleep with their eyes wide open. At this season of the year that is a very commendable habit and must help the fish to avoid many a tempting morsel of bait wherein is concealed a wicked hook. Local anglers were out in force Sunday and several brought back some good catches. Evidently some of the finny tribe did not have their eyes open as wide as they should have.

One man's enthusiasm held over until Tuesday morning. He was discovered preparing some corks to his own liking. He took time off to search for sandpaper to dress down corks, but no one in the vicinity could furnish any.

On interviewing this devotee of the rod and line, the writer learned that he has will sometimes follow a boat and watch the fisherman. "And if you drop bait right in front of them, they won't touch it."

Another interesting bit of information gleaned was to the effect that if the fish are not biting and one member of a fishing party falls into the water, the fish will begin to bite.

You can make all the noise you want on a fishing trip, the modern Isaac Walton countered. "The fish won't hear you, but they can feel vibrations, and you should step lightly on the bank."

Those who venture into the quiet brush-lined places about lakes and streams should be warned that the mosquitoes are bad this year and often they are more ready to bite than are the fish. There are those who say the same thing that is good for snake bite is also good for mosquito bite, and furnishes an excellent reason for going fishing.

Be that as it may, many have reported that the fish are biting. For a fishing trip to be a success, the fish must bite in sufficient numbers to enable the fisherman to hook enough for at least one meal.

TWO ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Two persons were injured Monday afternoon when the car in which they were riding ran off the slab and struck a culvert abutment west of the city.

Five people, all residents of Orange, Cal., were enroute to Detroit. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vose, Mrs. C. S. Minter and small child, and Mrs. Leonard.

Mrs. Vose sustained a fracture of the left collar bone and minor cuts and bruises. Mrs. Minter had been the victim of a previous accident on the same trip, which occurred at Carlsbad, N. Mex. She was traveling with a broken leg. The cast on the injured leg was broken in the accident Monday, and it was necessary to recast the injury.

The accident victims were taken to Our Saviour's hospital, where Dr. R. M. Norris gave the necessary surgical attention. Others in the party were severely shaken by the accident, but otherwise unhurt.

H. O'Day, National League Umpire, Dies

Ruling Cost Giants Title in 1908 When Merkle Forgot to Touch Second

Chicago.—(P)—Hank O'Day, whose ruling as a National League umpire once cost the New York Giants the league and possibly the world baseball championship, died early today at Presbyterian hospital after several months' illness of bronchial pneumonia.

O'Day was umpire in chief of the National league until his retirement in 1931. Baseball records indicated he was 74 years old, but he never would admit his age.

O'Day was a player, or an arbiter of the game, for approximately 50 years. He pitched for Washington in the eighties, when the old 12 club National league was flourishing. He also played for New York and Pittsburgh and previously was with minor leagues in Savannah, Columbus, Marquette, Wis., Toledo and Council Bluffs.

O'Day umpired the famous baseball game in 1908 when Fred Merkle failed to touch second base and O'Day ruled that a run that crossed the plate didn't count, and that the New York Giants hadn't won the National league championship. The Chicago Cubs won the playoff game and the flag.

Royal Mounted Ends Relief Camp Strike With Tear Gas, Guns

Municipal Officer Beaten to Death in Riot; 1 Striker Severely Injured

Regina, Sask.—(P)—Three thousand relief camp strikers, who battled Royal Canadian Mounted police in a riot during which a municipal officer was beaten to death, were subdued today by tear gas and gun fire.

A second officer and a striker were injured critically. Five more police-men and a score of strikers were hurt before the police quelled the crowd. Twenty-seven persons and a dog were dispersed the others, pursuing them relentlessly through the streets.

The riot broke out after the mounted police and city officers charged a mass meeting of the strikers, halted by lack of funds in their march on Ottawa to protest against relief camp conditions. The strikers faced removal to a dominion camp, pending return to their homes.

Routed by the steel-helmeted officers before a barrage of tear gas, the strikers attempted to return to the scene, hurling stones and other missiles as the mounties swung their batons.

Repulsed again, the strikers plunged into renewed combat. Police fired over the heads of the strikers during the second clash, and the opposing ranks slugged freely in hand-to-hand fighting.

After two hours of close combat, City Commissioner R. J. Westgate announced early today he was informed that the police, clearing the area and riding patrol in nearby streets, had the rioters well in hand.

Constable Charles Miller of the Regina police was the man beaten to death, and Constable Francis of the mounted police was injured seriously. One man identified as a striker, Dan McGee, was reported dying, and many other strikers were injured.

Maintain Peace, is Plea of War Vets

Representatives of Nations in World War Gather in Paris for Talk

Paris.—(P)—World War veterans of the allied nations and of imperial Germany agreed today in their first official meeting since they fought on the battle fields of the continent, that peace must be maintained in Europe.

A report on the "principles" of peace, drawn up by a committee on which James L. McCann, Paris merchant from Tuscaloosa, Ala., represented American veterans, was placed before the conference, arranged by "Fidac," international veterans organization.

An official announcement issued after yesterday's secret meeting said "discussions which never left the level of perfect sincerity showed the great desire of all delegates to work in common to realize the desire of former combatants to maintain world peace."

An agreement on a plan to forestall another conflict was reported to have been reached in the secret talks.

Three Youths Tell Former Citizen is Of Triple Drowning Summoned by Death

Boston Broker Washed Overboard During Sailing Trip; Sons Lose Lives in Lincoln; Funeral to Be Here Thursday

Sydney, N. S.—(P)—Three young survivors of an Atlantic gale that cost the lives of their companions—a Boston yachtman and his two sons who sought to save him—took refuge in port today, still suffering from their experiences.

Their 54-foot ketch Hamrah, her rigging and sails damaged, rode safely off the Royal Cape Breton Yacht club, but her 21-year-old navigator, Charles Tillinghast of Providence, I. I., said it might be several days before they could put to sea again.

Tillinghast and his two companions, Roger Weed, 25, and Sheldon Ware, 19, both of Boston, brought their crippled craft into Sydney Harbor yesterday and reported that Robert Ames, 55, Boston realty broker and sportsman, had been washed overboard by a mountainous wave. His sons, Richard, 23, and Harry, 20, were lost in a vain attempt to rescue him.

JOE KIRKWOOD RAPS BRITISH GOLF PRIZES

Says There Will Have to Be More in Kitty for Men

London.—(P)—Joe Kirkwood, who came a cropper in the British open golf championship at Muirfield last week, breezed into town today and let loose a blast about the small prize money offered the open contestants.

"It seems ridiculous that the men who attract the crowds should gain such small benefits," he said. "Until the British idea of prize money is revised American golfers will stay in America."

"I saw 10,000 people at Muirfield the last day, each one representing a half crown (about 60 cents), yet Alfred Perry, the hero of that vast gathering, got just £100 (about $500)."

Kirkwood pointed out American golfers must realize approximately $2,500 to make the trip worth while.

The composition is based on the song "Illinois." Col. Hand and his band will feature the new march at performances this summer.

Kill One Youth, Hit Another in Stopping Indiana Jail Break

One Boy Escapes Amid Gunfire at Reformatory in Pendleton

Pendleton, Ind.—(P)—Slugs from a sawed-off shotgun killed one youth and injured another perhaps fatally as four prisoners tried to escape from the Indiana State Reformatory here early today.

One of the quartet fled through the gunfire to freedom; the fourth cringed behind a wall where guards found him within 20 minutes.

None of the four was armed, Superintendent A. F. Miles said. Simon Dyer was the prisoner killed; Robert McAllister was gravely wounded, and Robert Sanders was recaptured.

More than a score of guards, augmented by officers from surrounding towns, spread into the rolling country near the reformatory at daylight under orders to "beat the bushes" for Darrell Paul Jones, suspected ringleader of the attempted break, believed to be wounded.

It was the largest break ever attempted at the reformatory here, Superintendent Miles said. The institution was built in 1922 to accommodate youthful prisoners convicted of less serious crimes.

SELLS LIQUOR IN WRONG ROOM; HELD

Will Spend 30 Days in Jail for Selling Drinks in Parlor

Collingswood, N. J.—(P)—Mrs. Mary Plank vows she'll pay more attention to geography the next time she sells liquor. The kitchen of her home is in adjoining Woodlawn and authorities there have shown no disposition to interfere with her liquor business. But one day she sold some drinks in the parlor and that was a mistake because the parlor is in Collingswood and Collingswood is dry.

So Judge Frank Neutze sentenced her to 30 days in jail.

PAY FOR WINDOW

Chicago.—(P)—A group of small boys who broke a window a week ago while playing ball promised the owner of the building they would pay for it. There the matter rested. Yesterday Fred Holter, 10, sought out the owner and paid him one dollar. He explained they charged one cent each for chances on two modest prizes to earn the dollar.

Howard Means was among the Sinclair business callers in Jacksonville yesterday.

Hunnell, Mo., July 2.—(P)—Mrs. Sidney Murray, 45, drowned today in three inches of water which seeped into the cellar of her home during recent heavy rains.

Coroner Cecil Swartz of Hannibal said Mrs. Murray apparently fainted while descending the basement stairs to get milk for dinner, struck the floor with force, and drowned before her husband and son Jack discovered the tragedy.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, 20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule when she marries MICHAEL HEATHROPE, young riding instructor who comes into a life and fortune. Katharine is rich and her stepmother is a snob.

The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage. Katharine, heart-broken, believes he has deserted her. She goes to New Mexico to forget. Wandering off for an early morning drive Katharine becomes lost in the desert.

Michael arrives to explain and beg forgiveness. He hires a plane to search for Katharine. After a long hunt she is rescued. Michael takes her to ranch home and tells her to wait.

Back home DR. JOHN KAYE, in love with Katharine, learns of her marriage from ZOE PARKER who tries to comfort him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII
WORD went to Victor Strykhurst by wire and he, of course, was furious.

"Married to Michael Heathrope weeks ago. He is here with me. Both ask blessing and forgiveness."

Victor almost had apoplexy. Bertine did not do much to soothe him. What was this outlandish tale. Victor fumed! Katharine wandering around the southwest with God knew whom, lost in the desert, found by this extraordinary young man who had taught a riding class in Innislock and who, amazingly enough, had been married to Katharine for weeks.

Bertine said again and again that she could not get over it. She repeated the phrase impressively, as though the very weight of her words must stun the listener.

People got bored hearing it. Lida Parker, who was fond of Bertine, said so roundly.

"You really must stop raving about Kay," Lida told her friend. "People will think there's something odd about the whole affair, and it's really very romantic. It isn't as if this young Heathrope hadn't turned out extraordinarily well. He has a title if he cares to use it. Zoe tells me. It was all in the Times."

"Newspaper stories," said Katharine's stepmother who had a complete disregard for all matters appearing in the public prints except the society columns which were to her a sort of Bible.

Lida Parker was annoyed and showed it.

"It's the truth," she said firmly. "And you know it. I think Katharine's done very well for herself."

Meantime Victor Strykhurst went to see Mrs. Mersey.

"Yes, I knew about it," Violet said.

"You probably encouraged the whole thing just from spite," Victor sputtered angrily. "I wouldn't have believed it of you."

"I didn't know until afterward," Violet told him, keeping her temper in leash. "I warned you the day she was thrown from the horse that she needed careful handling. I could see by her face she was interested in the boy. But you wouldn't let her take a job; you balked her in everything. What did you expect?"

VIOLET felt a sudden and inexplicable pity for him, sitting there with his handsome head in his hands.

"It's turning out all right," she shared with Daisy and Mary.

said gently. He's a gentleman, nice looking and pleasant."

"He was a groom," muttered Victor. "He was a cowboy before that."

"You're being very foolish about it," Violet told him, rising and terminating the interview. "I don't know why I should listen to your absurd accusations against me, except that I was once fond of you, and I realize parents are notably silly in matters of this sort."

"I'm sorry," said the man, knowing himself dismissed.

Violet felt that absurd pity welling up in her heart again. When he left she shook hands with him quite calmly, and then she went back into the house and tore up letters which she had been keeping in a locked box.

Why she had kept those old love letters, she could not have said. She was a true and faithful wife; but there had been a lurking sentiment for the old tie which she had never before been able to sever. She saw Victor now as he really was—elderly, ineffectual, hidebound. How could she ever have loved him?

ISABEL, who worked in Miss Betsy's Beauty Shop, read the news in the village newspaper and went back to the shabby little house she shared with her mother and sisters to gloat over the story with a trace of envy.

"I know her well," she told the dazzled little sisters who hung over the very poor half-tone reproduction of Katharine's picture. "Oh, she's lots prettier than that. Daisy! She's a real blond—and you know we don't get many of those. I've seen the fellow she married many a time. Too. He's real good looking—I don't know as he's my type, though. Now, my ideal."

They had heard about Isabel's ideal before. Daisy frankly yawned.

"My ideal," pursued Isabel running a wet comb through her wave and narrowing her eyes speculatively at her image in the spotted and cloudy mirror. "My ideal is sort of like Fredric March only younger, but with the same kind of chin."

"Bill don't look a bit like Fredric March," observed Daisy with an air of innocence belied by the knowing stare in her heavy eyes. "You better let Bill alone."

Isabel said with spirit. "I've told Bill many a time he wasn't my ideal as far as looks go, but he certainly is one handsome fellow. There are girls in this town who'd give their shoes to go out with him."

"See you!" Daisy was setting the table now.

"You mind your own business or you'll be sorry," Isabel advised heatedly. "Tell you one thing—when Bill and I step off we'll have a slicker looking place to live in than this dump. Wonder you kids wouldn't rinse out a bit of wash now and then, with Ma working her head off all day at the canning factory. You get out of school at quarter past three and hang around selling your heads off till just before I come home. Bet I know what's for supper, too." She wrinkled her nose, staring into the handleless pot on the stove.

"Canned beans! I know it." She slammed into the room she shared with Daisy and Mary.

Maud, Bill was taking her to one of the first indoor hockey games tonight. She'd be lucky if she found a decent pair of silk stockings to wear.

How nice it would be, Isabel mused, staring around the dark, shabby little room, to have pretty things, to have beads and daisies galore. While you were young—that's when it counted because, after all, it wouldn't matter when she was older.

"Oh, sis, a box came for you today," Mary Maud, gangling and pale at 11, in a gingham dress a size too small, came to stand and stare from the door.

"A box? How? By parcel post?"

"I don't know. No, I think someone left it at the door. It was on the stoop. Daisy," said Mary Maud virtuously, "wanted to open it, but I wouldn't let her."

FRANTICALLY Isabel tore at the string, ripping it off. Under folds of tissue paper lay a white and silver frock. Isabel gasped. Staring. She tore open the square crumpled envelope. There was a signature. Sally Moon. . . . Why, of all things. . . .

"Dear Isabel: I'm going to Paris for a year. You said something the last time you did my hair about getting married. Don't say I gave this to you. The old cats have talked enough already. Good luck."

"Well, I never thought she even liked me," marvelled Isabel. Casual, careless Sally had sent her the wedding dress!

"Try it on, sis. Try it on." Both dingy little girls were hopping about in an ecstasy of excitement.

They forgot about time, forgot about food, Isabel emerged from the scrubby cubicle which served as a bathroom, her arms and face gleaming from recent scrubbing. She slipped the lovely frock over her head.

"Ooh-ooh, don't you look nice!" Even Daisy said it, reluctantly but convincingly.

When you have never before in your life owned a really decent frock, Isabel thought, revolving before the square of mirror, it's heaven to own one at last. . . . it works magic for you.

Lost in her dreams, she didn't hear the doorbell. Didn't hear Bill's deep growl in response to Mary Maud's piping treble.

"Tell her I can't make the game," she heard at last. "Tell her I've got to play pool with some of the fellows."

Isabel went out into the sitting room. Bill saw her. He gaped. The little girls, sensing a situation, withdrew to the kitchen where they peeped through the kitchen door.

"Don't bother," Isabel said loftily. "You've broken dates with me before, Bill Martin. This is the last time. I'm getting me another beau."

She was regal in the white and silver. In the cheap little house she was like an exotic flower.

"You're telling me?" Bill demanded truculently. "You're my girl, aren't you? And we're getting married soon, aren't we?"

"Are we?" Isabel shrugged. "First I heard of it."

"Well, you know it now," said the man. He was staring at her as if he had never seen her before.

Put 7,000 Tokens in Local Circulation

Business Gobbles Up Metal Sales Tax Discs and

Waits for More

About 7,000 of the little metal discs being used as tokens in the collection of the new 3 per cent sales tax have been placed in circulation in this community. Practically all stores that have sales ranging below fifteen cents are using the tokens to make change. A token is of sufficient value to pay the tax on a five-cent purchase.

LOCAL PACKERS ASK TAX ACT BE DECLARED VOID

Powers-Begg Packers Question Constitutionality Of Processing Tax

Alleging the plaintiff is directly, oppressively and ruinously affected by the hog processing tax and that the so-called tax is wholly illegal and void because in violation of the Constitution of the United States, Powers-Begg Packers, Inc., of this city yesterday filed suit in Springfield against Vincent V. Dellman, collector of internal revenue for the Eighth District of Illinois, petitioning the court to declare the tax upon the processing of hogs under the "presumed" authority of the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional and void. The suit was filed in the district court of the United States, for the southern district of Illinois. The suit filed by the plaintiff's attorneys, Bellatti, Samuelli and Arnold, is the first case of its kind to be filed in this district.

The bill of complaint and petition for declaratory judgment states that the Agricultural Adjustment Act of May 12, 1933 provides for the assessment and collection of what is termed in the Act a "tax" prescribed in a formula by which the Secretary of Agriculture is to determine the measure thereof, and specifies the circumstances under which the tax becomes payable. Under the Act, the bill alleges, taxes have been assessed against the plaintiff in ruinous amounts and large sums have been paid by the plaintiff on account.

The plaintiff charges that the Secretary of Agriculture for four months last past has ignored the statutory formula in assessing the tax and during said period has assessed it and threatens to continue to do so in total disregard of the fact that the statutory conditions precedent to such assessment have ceased to exist. The plaintiff further charges, that even if assessed as prescribed by the Act the so-called tax is wholly illegal and void because in violation of the Constitution of the United States.

Provisions Of Act The provisions of the Act, according to the bill, are applicable to hogs and a variety of other commodities. The objective of Congress as declared in the Act is the restoration of a pre-war standard of value of hogs in terms of power to purchase such articles as farmers buy.

The nature of the control contemplated by the Act is to reduce production on the farm to a point at which scarcity will result in a rise in market price, and others already produced, to the extent necessary to prevent the price from going down. Instead, however, of a direct statutory prohibition upon production, the scheme of the Act is to pay to the producer sums of money ample to deter him from production.

The bill alleges the dominant scheme of the Act is to put in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture effective and absolute control not only of the production of all agricultural commodities and the prices for which they are to be sold, but to give him equal control over the private business of those who handle such commodities or their products, or any other products that may conceivably be deemed by him to be competitive.

The processing tax, according to the bill and petition, is not within the power granted to Congress of the Constitution of the United States "To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises," and is in violation of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution in that it takes property without due process of law.

Not A Tax It is further alleged that the processing tax is not a tax within the meaning of the Constitution. It is merely an invalid means to accomplish an illegal end. The proceeds of such tax, it is claimed, are not levied for general revenue or for a public purpose. On the contrary, the exaction is an arbitrary levy upon one class of citizens for the benefit of another class; it is not based upon the amount of property involved or the amount of business done, but upon purely arbitrary and unrelated factors having to do only with the purchasing power of the proceeds derived from the sale of farm products. These factors, it is alleged, in turn are constantly variable, uncertain and impossible of exact determination; and the rate of tax is consequently indefinite and shifting, and the exaction is neither a tax on property nor a tax upon sales. The rate is exorbitant, confiscatory and destructive of lawful business, it is alleged.

The bill sets forth that all of the property, of the plaintiff, both real and personal, are claimed by the collector to be subject to a lien and distraint by him for failure to pay the alleged tax, and that the said defendant as such collector has filed a purported lien covering the alleged "tax" accrued to and including March, 1935.

The plaintiff asks that an injunction issue, temporary until hearing and permanent thereafter, restraining and enjoining the defendant, and each of his deputies, from attempting to assess against or to collect from plaintiff such processing tax.

Damages to the land not used by the highway but in an adjoining tract were set at $650. Farmers Approve Payment Plans

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—A new graduated plan for making benefit payments to signers of the proposed four-year wheat production control contracts was approved today by farmers attending a conference with AAA officials.

It was predicted the plan would be submitted to Secretary Wallace and adopted if he approves it.

Under the scheme agreed upon by the farmers, the final benefit payment each year would be adjusted upward or downward according to the actual difference between the average farm price and the parity price during the year. Parity is regarded as the price at which the commodity will have a purchasing power equal to that it had during the pre-war period of 1909-1914.

A deduction from the final payment each year would be made to meet local administrative expenses.

ALBERT DECKER FOUND INSANE AT HEARING

Hearing Held Tuesday For Local Man Who Caused Scene Here

Albert Decker, who caused a scene of disorder in the offices of the Morgan County Relief Commission Monday afternoon, was adjudged insane yesterday afternoon and committed to the Jacksonville State hospital. The sanity hearing was held in county court before Judge William E. Thompson with Dr. W. H. Newcomb and Dr. Paul Hartley acting as the medical commission who were summoned to pass on Decker's sanity.

Decker swinging wildly at several relief office employees and shouting defiance at others, is said to have struck Julian Rawlings with his fist several times and by one of his fingers badly. Monday, Rawlings an employee in the relief office, underwent treatment for his injuries. Yesterday morning a petition was filed in county court to declare Decker insane, his wife, Mrs. Edna Decker and Mrs. Tillie J. Kelly, director of relief, signing the petition.

Three policemen rushed to relief headquarters to quell the one-man riot precipitated by the irate Decker, who has been a regular customer of the relief organization almost since its inception. Patrolmen Spreen, Mann and Carter took charge of affairs and bundled the trouble-maker off to the police station.

Overpowered By Employees By the time the patrolmen arrived several male members of the relief staff overpowered Decker and had him on the floor. He is said to have fought viciously throughout the disorder.

Decker and his wife have been separated for some time according to relief records. Mrs. Kelly stated that efforts were made to administer their relief separately, but that Decker has refused to sign a necessary affidavit.

Monday afternoon he appeared at the office in a quarrelsome mood. Relief workers endeavored to wait upon him but he persisted in creating a disturbance, according to those who work there.

The relief director, Mrs. Kelly, told Decker to go away and think it over but he became so abusive that he was told a policeman would be called if he did not cool down.

Bites Worker's Finger "Send for three of them," Decker is reported to have shouted. He then struck at Rawlings, according to numerous witnesses. He grabbed one of Rawlings' hands and almost bit off one of his fingers. The wound was treated by Dr. W. H. Newcomb.

Decker is said to have been a persistent trouble-maker for a number of months. He visited the relief office often, and usually was in an ugly mood, people there said.
